

Student Computer Use Agreement

- (a) Access to computers is provided for students of BLI for educational purposes only.
- (b) No food or drink is permitted anywhere within the computer laboratory.
- (c) BLI's expectations of high standards in behaviour and communications apply to those using the computers.
- (d) All users must adhere to the Code of Practice outlined below :-
- i. Access to BLI's computer network is subject to an agreed set of rules and procedures that reflect Australian and ACT law, as well as the BLI's concern for the rights of others and respect for property.
 - ii. Breaking this agreement will result in the privilege of using the computer network to be withdrawn, and possible withdrawal from the current enrolled course.
 - iii. Irresponsible behaviour includes:
 - Not respecting the rights and privacy of others
 - Sending offensive or anonymous messages
 - Accessing pornographic, offensive or inappropriate material
 - Violating copyright of other people's intellectual property
 - Using the network for financial or commercial gain
 - Degrading, corrupting or damaging hardware, software, data, equipment or the integrity of the network
 - Not reporting all known violations of privacy, or the above
 - Eating or drinking while working or sitting at the computers
 - Installing unauthorised software
 - Using network resources in a manner that contradicts staff instructions
 - Altering the configuration of the network without the approval of the network administrator.

iv. For the purposes of maintaining the effectiveness, the security and the integrity of the network and all information within, BLI's director, or the network administrator may permit staff to access, move or delete any files as necessary for such purposes.

(e) All information stored on the BLI's network is the property of BLI.

This section to be filled and signed by the trainee, and returned to the course coordinator/manager with the enrolment form. Computer access will then be arranged.
